Turn an old jumper into your pet's favourite bed!

FIND YOUR REPURPOSE

Old jumpers, sweatshirts, blankets and other soft clothes can be turned into a cosy pet bed.

You'll need:

One large old jumper or sweatshirt, scissors, needle and strong thread, and fluff from an unwanted pillow or fabric scraps for stuffing.

1. Choose a large jumper.

A thick sweatshirt or jumper works particularly well.

2. Sew up the neck.

Stitch the neckline closed securely.

3. Stuff the top half of the jumper.

Ensure the arms are well stuffed too.

4. Sew the arms shut.

This will keep the stuffing from falling out the arms.

5. Sew across the chest from armpit to armpit.

This will keep the stuffing in the top half of the jumper and an empty lower half.

6. Stuff the bottom half.

This is the main comfy part so fill it with as much stuffing as you can.

7. Sew the bottom of the jumper shut.

8. Pull the arms around the base of the bed

9. Sew both arms together and you're done!

This will keep the shape of the bed secure and form a comfy outer ring around the base.

Quick tip:
Avoid clothes with buttons, zips, beads or loose decorations that your pet could chew or swallow.
